Maj. Patrick Parker D.O. was born and raised in Buffalo, New York. He attended Gannon University in Erie, Pennsylvania and graduated magna cum laude in 2002. Shortly before graduation, he applied for and obtained the Health Professional Services Program scholarship and direct commission to the rank of 2LT in the US Army. He then went on to obtain his Doctor of Osteopathy from Philadelphia College of Osteopathic Medicine, graduating in 2006. That same year he was promoted to the rank of Captain and began his Urology Residency at Walter Reed National Military Medical Center. In 2012, he was promoted to Major, graduated his residency, and took over as Chief of Urology Department at Martin Army Community Hospital, Fort Benning, Georgia. He has since transitioned to Ft. Drum, New York, where he is the first urologist to be stationed at that post.

Attend and learn about one the most prestigious and recognized medical organizations in the world, “The U.S. Army Medical Department”.

• Information on Career Opportunities in Medical, Dental, Veterinarian, Clinical Psychology, Physical Therapy, Physician’s Assistant, Occupational Therapy, Audiology, Entomology, Biochemist in the U.S. Army
• Information on the HPSP Scholarship which pays 100% tuition (in state or out of state schools) as well as a $20,000 sign on bonus and a stipend of $2200 per month
• Please RSVP with the point of contact below
• If you cannot attend but wish to learn more, call to schedule a convenient appointment
• The Seminar will be held from 6:00pm until 8:00pm at the date and location below

19 April 2016
University of Notre Dame
Room 101, Jordan Science Hall

Contact:
CPT Anthony A. McManus
Army Healthcare Consultant
202 South Michigan Street
South Bend, IN  46601
Cell: 877-662-0253  270-304-9550
E-Mail: anthony.a.mcmanus.mil@usarec.army.mil